Boys and Girls Club opens new facility in Fort Erie

Mayor Doug Martin cut the ribbon to officially open the new facility on August 24

Fort Erie's kids will have one more place to go now that Boys and Girls Club of Niagara have officially opened their new facility.

Many were in attendance on Tues. Aug. 24, 2010 to welcome the Club to their new facility at 20 Lewis St., including local politicians and sponsors.

A ribbon cutting ceremony kicked off the grand opening, with Mayor Doug Martin handling the shears, and later, balloons were released to the sky, each one containing 2 free memberships to the Club. The event also marked the 50th anniversary of the Club in Niagara, with Founder Awards presented to those instrumental in the development of the new facility and the success of the Club over the last fifty years.

Executive Director JoAnne Turner was on hand to present the awards and says, "Boys and Girls Clubs don't get started all by themselves...there are special people and organizations that know how important programs for children are."

Among recipients of the awards were Al Stouffer, of the Gaming Development Corporation of the Town of Fort Erie, Father Mullen of the Holy Family Boys Home of Niagara Falls, Yvonne Hopkins of the Ontario Trillium Foundation, Carol Stewart Kirby of the United Way of Niagara Falls and Greater Fort Erie, and Sandie Greenhalgh of the Stamford Kiwanis Club.

Since the facility opened on July 5, 2010, the Club has been able to increase the frequency of available days for drop-ins, from one to three days a week, allowing 40 children the opportunity to participate in summer camp, and opened up availability for September programs like licensed child-care, kid and teen zone after school programs, gymnastics, ball sports and more.

Barbara Greenwood, Fund Development Chair for the Club, says, "These kids are the future. If we look after these children, they're going to have a place to go."

Greenwood noted that family dynamics have changed in today's society, and says, "Now there is more single-parent families, or parents with multiple jobs, and these children need a place to hang out in a positive way."

Greenwood says other considerations have been made in the facility, including those children with special needs, and says, "We are the only organization in the Niagara Region with a facility like this that provides services for children with special needs."

Greenwood also says that inclusion is the basis of the facilities' purpose, and that, "We never turn any children away, and most of the programs like gymnastics and computers, are included in our $20-a-year fee."

The Boys and Girls Club of Niagara Fort Erie Centre's hours are from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. in the summer, and starting in September hours for before-care programs start at 7 a.m. with regular hours from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m., and some after school programs running until 8 p.m.

Gold fever hits town as Treasure Hunters move in Many residents line up to have items appraised by U.S. company

Ward Barrett
Fort Erie Times

A modern gold rush has swept into town, and many local residents lined up to find out how much untapped wealth they really have.

From Tuesday, Aug. 17 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., to Sunday, Aug. 21 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Treasure Hunters Roadshow, a Springfield, Ill. company, saw a large turnout not only in search of the best price for unwanted gold, but an understanding of the hidden value their basements, attics, and jewelry boxes hold.

Erin O'Reilly, Manager of the Roadshow says, "from 7 a.m. I've seen people waiting, and we start at 9 a.m."

Many attendees left because of long wait times, but there were still plenty on hand willing to tackle the 5-hour wait, O'Reilly says, "people are really patient in this town, they've been so nice and are usually very happy after our appraisals."

Gold was evaluated at the Roadshow and O'Reilly says "we usually base our appraisals on resale value, and more than likely a person will get a great value for any gold, even scrap gold."

Gold is not the sole focus of the Roadshow, as many local residents brought items ranging from military antiques to rare coins.

"One resident received a cheque for $4600 for some old coins," O'Reilly says, adding, "Everybody walks away with something there, even just some education on one of their favourite antiques."

Any local residents who missed their chance last week can catch the Treasure Hunters Roadshow in Grimsby at the CasaBlanca Winery Inn from Sept. 7 to 11.

Have you HEARD?

by Aileen Hillier, MEd, MEd
Hearing Loss & Deafblind

THE IMPACT OF HEARING LOSS ON LANGUAGE DEVELOPMENT

Parents of children with impaired hearing ability in just one ear should take the necessary steps to ensure that their kids get the treatment and attention they need. Recent research indicates that up to one child in 20 with hearing loss in one ear often does not get needed attention at school, special education, or a hearing instrument. As a result of ignoring their undetected hearing loss, these children score lower on both comprehension and speech tests and were more likely to receive speech therapy than their school-age siblings with normal hearing. Children with hearing loss in only one ear should not be dismissed as not having as "significant a hearing loss" as children with hearing loss in both ears.

For children as well as adults, good hearing is not something to be taken for granted. Millions of people suffer from hearing loss, including school-age children (3 out of every 100 affected) and senior citizens (1 out of every 4 affected). If you suspect a hearing problem for you or a family member, give us a call at HearingAid Balance & Hearing Clinic, 905-871-4242. We'll arrange a convenient, painless hearing test to determine the best way to proceed. We're located at 800 Garrison Road, Unit 12, where we are committed to providing individual counselling to help those with hearing loss function more effectively in educational, social, and occupational environments.

P.S. According to the study mentioned above, children with hearing loss in one ear performed just as well on IQ tests as their school-age counterparts with normal hearing.

Police seek public help after boy approached on trail

Niagara Regional Police Service (NRPS) is investigating a suspicious person complaint after a boy, 9, was approached by an unknown male on the Fort Erie Friendship Trail near Daytona Drive.

The incident occurred Sat. Aug. 21, as a boy was playing on the Friendship Trail when the male approached him and asked if he wanted to go for a ride on his E-Bike.

The boy left the area immediately to notify his parents, who called NRPS. Officers attended the scene and received a description of the male.

The male is described as white, 19 to 21, 5'8" tall, with a slim build and a possible bright red curly hair wig that covered only the side portions of his head.

Aviation event honours air force vets

Ward Barrett
Fort Erie Times

All eyes were on the skies as local Royal Canadian Air Force (RCAF) veterans were honoured at Sunset Field Airstrip in Fort Erie Sunday afternoon.

Four local RCAF veterans received rides in a Second war, says, "I'm not as agile as I used to be. It's a little more difficult to get in these planes nowadays... the ride was very good though."

Hodges, 88, says, "When I'm flying, I'm happy. I trained out of St. Catharines Airport during the war. It was No. 9 Elementary Flying Training School (EFTS) and Bob, he trained at No. 9 as well." Stewart, 88, says, "I went west, out to No. 31 EFTS, Alberta."

The four received their flight training through the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan, or "The Plan", which was designed to recruit and train aircrew inside Canada because of security and space concerns in the U.K. during wartime.

Dow, 88, became a flight instructor under "The Plan" and says, "I trained the men out of Dunnville, I had my initial training out of St. Catharines."

Presentations of letters of recognition from Prime Minister Stephen Harper and Justice Minister Rob Nicholson were made by Anna Annunziata, Assistant to Minister Nicholson, to mark the occasion and recognize the men's service during WWII.

Beware of little people on local roads

It's almost that time again when mothers can take a breather, albeit a short one.

Their children are going back to school finally, after a long summer.

That means that local roads and sidewalks will be packed with young people on their way to the schools.

Will they get there safely?

That's up to you.

Youngsters will be in a high state of excitement, and many won't be looking out for their own safety.

That's where you come in.

Please, drive as if the young people around you can't see you, and that you might, in fact, be invisible.

When driving down busy streets, drive with the caution of someone who is expecting a youngster to burst out onto the street.

Practice defensive driving, for yourself and the young people around you.

We want our children to get to school and back safely. We try and teach them the rules of the road, and about road safety, but it's just as important for you as a driver to consider that they may ignore those rules and endanger their own lives.

It's an old saying but an accurate one. Be part of the solution, not the problem.

Do you remember?

"Memories, memories, so amazing." Our callers were very happy to see last week's Do You Remember photo of L-R: Ron Potyok, Walter Leslie, boy unknown and Art Rankin. These men are presenting the boy with a baseball trophy in the Squirts Champs division, probably the late 1960's. Thank you to Peter Perham, and Gloria Bliss who's brother Ron Potyok played for the Fort Erie Frontier, Senior A Hockey team. Thanks as well to the anonymous caller who told us about Walter Leslie's career on the railroad.

This week's photo has the name Bill Miller on the back and the date 1981. If you know any of the people in this photo or why the picture appeared in the paper, please call the Museum at 894-5322 (museum@forterie.on.ca).

It doesn't beat reading the whole paper, but RSS feeds are great Weird news - ya gotta love it.

While nothing beats enjoying a cuppa Joe and sitting back with the newspaper for a good read, I do have other sources for news I turn to at times - particularly the Internet.

I like Sun Media's Canoe website and, in particular, I like the different categories of news one can turn to.

I use Firefox's "Life Headlines" feature to build a menu of news categories that are updated automatically. I enjoy its Canadian news headlines, world news, crime, TV news, music and movies.

One of my favourites is

Tom Wilkinson
Write Here

the weird news.

If you've never fiddled with Firefox's life headline feature, I would suggest it's worth it to take the time to learn.

I have one news menu item in my bookmark bar which drops down to a series of subheads. Each subhead then "flies out" to reveal about six headlines from that category.

It's a very convenient way to read news and, because it's within Firefox, it's updated automatically throughout the day.

Like I said, it will never replace stretching out on the couch or sitting on the patio with a coffee and the paper (at least for me) - but it's not a bad alternative when you're on the go.

One of my favourite news categories from Sun Media's website is also the weird news. It's always got something entertaining in it.

Today, for example, weird news headlines are as follows:

- Chinese drivers sit it out in nine-day traffic jam
- Kobayashi eats 10

pizzas in 12 minutes (you may remember Takero

- Kobayashi as being a very slight, former hot-dog-eating champion)
- Man run over by own parked car
- Man steals bike to make probation meeting
- War for least healthy sandwich heats up
- Man takes stolen name to grave

I don't know about you folks, but in the middle of reading stories about the economy, foreign affairs (and I don't mean love trysts between movie stars from different countries), war and poverty, some good old-fashioned weird news offers a healthy break.

I used to get that from the Toronto Sun when I lived in Toronto.

One of the most bizarre stories I read in that paper about two clerics who were having an argument about who had saved the most souls. Then one pulled out a gun and shot the other one dead.

Who could forget that? It's very easy to glance through the top headlines from these sites and then just click on the ones you want to read.

Guess what? You can even subscribe to RSS feeds from your local Niagara newspapers. On our website, look for an RSS link, and add us.

You can read about anyone getting run over by his or her own parked car and, in the next breath, about your local council.

All from in front of your computer.

To access the RSS feeds from Canoe, you can visit rs.canoe.ca. There you will find an explanation of RSS and the many categories of news feeds available.

In the meantime, don't forget to pick up a copy of our newspaper and enjoy reading the local news within.

See you in cyberworld!

Time to "bin" the LHN

Dear Editor,

How many more unnecessary deaths will have to occur before the Minister admits its time to bin the Local Health Integration Network (LHIN)? The Ombudsman's independent investigation of the LHIN shows that the eminent appointees to the LHIN Board relegated the community to a mere side show. The Hospital Improvement Plan was based on the opinions of outside consultants as opposed to the needs and concerns of the communities. By withdrawing services from local communities the HIP has reduced the affordability, availability and acceptability of services, the three elements that determine access to health care. The arraignment of the LHIN in ignoring the communities in the development of the plan is only matched by their dismissal of the Ombudsman's report. Where is the point of the Government funding the independent office of the ombudsman if public agencies can simply dismiss and ignore the ombudsman's findings?

The LHIN model was based on the principle of evidence-based decision making: decisions that reflected the evidence of the needs and preferences of communities informed by the scientific information about how best to meet those needs. Sadly the Hospital Improvement Plan incorporated neither of these elements. A case of eminent-based decision making replacing evidence-based decision making. In practice the LHINs have led to a massive increase in administrative costs. The number of LHIN staff far exceed the numbers of staff employed by their predecessor agencies (District Health Councils and Regional Offices). Staff of these former agencies have been employed by LHINs at far greater salaries (same skills but higher wages). Finally Board members of the District Health Councils were unpaid volunteers at no expense to the taxpayer but the total pay and expenses of LHIN board members would be more than enough to keep local services in place in many communities. A wonderful example of getting less by paying more.

Governments should provide greater transparency

This fall voters will once again return to the ballot box to elect their municipal governments.

I applaud anybody who puts their name on the ballot to seek municipal office. The job of a mayor and councillor is not easy. But it is one of the best ways to give back to your community.

Long before my own political career began, my mother served as a town councillor in our hometown of Fort Erie. And I still remember the sacrifices that came with the job, with people approaching her at all hours, seven-days-a-week to talk about their issues and problems.

As a citizen, I believe we should encourage more people to get involved in the democratic process.

Tim Hudak - PC Leader
From the Park Bench

As a candidate for Premier, I believe the provincial government should do more to work with local governments without dipping back into the taxpayer's wallet as well.

In particular I believe that it is long overdue that the Provincial Government provides greater transparency and less interference in local decisions.

When it comes to transparency, it has long believed that nothing improves the accountability and effectiveness of governments quite like improving people's right to know what their governments are doing.

We know that the provincial government has become too big and too expensive. And too much money is being spent far away from any public oversight at all.

Last week Ontario Ombudsman Andre Martin confirmed that the Hamilton - Niagara - Haldimand - Brant - Local Health Integration Network* (or LHIN for short) was engaging in 'plainly illegal' and 'secret' meetings as it deliberated a series of local health care cuts.

We already knew that the LHIN does not spend a minute treating patients, perform a single surgery, or run a single MRI. But for the LHIN to also engage in 'illegal' behavior in order to hide from the public is utterly indefensible.

Given that local health care services are already stretched to the limit, there are no more excuses for continuing to waste health care dollars on the LHINs. That's why I have long committed that, as Premier I would scrap the LHINs and reinvest this money into frontline patient care.

A second area where you can expect to see a change from us through less interference in local affairs.

Today, we see a troubling trend where the priorities of unelected and unaccountable bureaucrats, managers and administrators are trumping elected local governments.

For instance, the McGuinty Government's Green Energy Act actually strips away planning authority from elected municipal governments - and bestows it on faceless bureaucrats at the Ontario Power Authority.

This is why - in the face of often strenuous local objections - we have seen the government plough ahead with schemes to install giant industrial wind-farms wherever they see fit. This is wrong.

Certainly, renewable power should be part of Ontario's supply mix. But only where it is welcomed and wanted and at prices ratepayers can afford.

This is why I have also committed to restoring decision making powers to local governments and - through them - to local families. Local families should have a say on what gets built in their neighbourhoods and hometowns.

In the end I believe the secret to good government comes from respecting others, keeping your word, sticking to a budget, and staying true to your principles - this is true for families, businesses, and for all levels of government.

I wish our municipal candidates good luck in the weeks ahead.

Local artist to have work featured at track on Sunday

Leisa Temple has made Fort Erie her home for the past five years. Her work will be featured this Sunday

Word Barrett
Fort Erie Times

A local artist with a passion for the equine form will be featured in an event this Sunday at Fort Erie Race Track.

Leisa Temple, born in Toronto and making Fort Erie her home for the last five years, will be the featured artist in Heritage Arts 4th Annual Day at Fort Erie Race Track.

Specializing in animal and human life drawing, Temple will be making her first appearance at the event, displaying many of her recently finished pieces in the Prince of Wales Room at the Track.

"We've been working through this in many meetings," says Temple. "It's all equine and racetrack."

This is not her first appearance in the Prince of Wales Dining Room and many of her pieces hang there now as part of the decorative theme of the restaurant.

"This is the first time heritage arts has done a feature presentation," Temple says, "they're going to a lot of trouble, and it should be great."

Temple's paintings stem from a love of horses and historical scenes. Some of her best known works have titles like "Fort Erie's First Race-

June 1897," as well as a new piece entitled "Flying" that depicts Triple Crown Winner Secretariat, who Temple says she "heard that Ron Turcotte had described what riding him was like, and he said, 'Flying.'"

Some of the work for the "Flying" piece was done at outside Fort Erie Race Track, a place that helped inspire Temple while working on it, she says. "When the weather was good."

The Heritage Arts 4th annual Day at Fort Erie Race Track will begin Sun. Aug. 29, 2010 at 12 p.m. and will include a hat contest, door prizes, silent auction and 2 memorial races; the 4th race in honour of Tom Kays, and Elbie Tartaglia. Tickets are $30 and include banquet feast and wagering program.

Local artist Leisa Temple puts final touches on her newest piece entitled "Flying," a depiction of Triple Crown winner Secretariat, ridden by hall of fame jockey Ron Turcotte.

Ask the Expert

Ask an Accountant

Q: How do I approach my bank in times of trouble?

A: Finally, lenders are sympathetic given the difficult economy but they don't want a long line of excuses for why you are having problems. The best way is to be up front with the problem. I can't make this month's payment, my lending commitment is at risk or whatever the problem is. Most importantly, present a realistic (recovery) plan with all the positive things you are working on. Bankers want to know how you are going to fix the problem. Without a near-term plan they will want some sign you are always up and in turn give you on you. The importance of saving, quickly and getting your banker on your side is one of the keys to surviving these turbulent economic times. It is going best to consult with your accountant and/or other advisors about a plan and focus on the solution.

• how to improve and manage cash flow

• how to increase sales

• how to reduce expenses
• how to be more efficient

These are the things that will encourage your banker to keep working for you.

Ask a Restaurateur

Q: Is there a new trend in the restaurant business?

A: The food business is constantly changing. The latest trend is customers are looking for healthier menu options. Less saturated fat content and higher protein are sought by our aging population. Deep fried is out and grilled or broiled foods are in. Fish and seafood are more popular, chicken and other poultry are also mainstays, and beef and pork are being pulled off the menu.

The Bites opened five years ago and our menu consisted of many different food choices and price points. As the Bites menu evolved so did our customer base. Our current customers are gravitating towards salmon, perch and halibut. Fishes more often. Healthy eating is a hot summer day is increasingly popular. As the summer season is coming to a close and people are "pulled out" they now looking in and out and other dishes.

I really enjoy a medium rare steak now and then but find that I don't crave it as often as hot summer days. I find that more people eat "comfort foods" such as steaks and pasta when the weather is cooler. As fall and winter approach, so will the menu ending change in appetites.

Ask a Business Counselor

Q: If I wanted to start a small business as a sole proprietorship do I have to register the name?

A: The law requires that a sole proprietorship that will be operating under any name other than the owner's name must be registered. However, if the owner chooses to operate the business under his or her name, they do not.

For example: Frank Jones

would not be required to register

Frank Jones Flooring would be required to register

You should conduct a name search before choosing your name to ensure no one else is using that name. For more information contact:

Ask a Hair Stylist

Q: Is it okay to try a different hairstyle? Will you go back to the original?

A: Absolutely! The problem with it is guilt & loyalty...but you shouldn't feel guilty, because your hairstylist doesn't own your hair. The same goes for the stylist. They really shouldn't make you feel bad about switching or centre you out....you're back in their chair and they should just be happy you came back.

Ask an Environmentalist

Q: Water is such a precious resource. How do I conserve what I use?

A: The first step is to identify where we use water in the home. Then we need to decide on what to do to reduce the amount of water we use, either by eliminating wasteful practices and habits, or by improving the efficiency of our water using fixtures and devices. Since we waste so much, this should be a relatively easy and painless process. The prime area to target is the bathroom, where nearly 65% of all indoor water use occurs. Go to Environment Canada's Water Conservation page to get the practical tips you need to become a water conservationist.

Ask a Dentist

Q: How can someone so close their teeth be dent?

A: Thanks to their teeth is a surprisingly common event and understandably the one thing that will get people into a dental office. Age is very important as to when, and how a fractured or painful tooth should be treated. In children the best time to see a dentist is to be lost and so injury also results in no treatment or extraction. If the injury is minor they can be treated, however, such restorations generally do not hold up a year.

For those older than 7 yrs and younger than 21, bonding with white filling material is usually recommended because the jaw continues to develop until this age and any permanent restorations with porcelain will generally mean changing them until growth has stopped. Although bonding is not as strong as porcelain and will wear changing it is relatively easy to repair. In adults, fractures should ideally be treated with porcelain, either crowns or veneers. Keep in mind that tooth decay with age, so if only one tooth needs to be crowned it will use the value while your natural teeth decay, for this reason it is often advisable to crown or veneer both teeth even if only one is fractured. As the year pass, colour difference will not be as evident. Each tooth is treated.

Ask an Automotive Service Technician

Q: Is there a way to drive eco-friendly?

A: It only takes a single car to substantially impact the environment. You can significantly reduce your impact on the environment with very little effort. Upgrade your motor oil. It also improves fuel economy by as much as 5%. Avoid topping up the gas tank - cap it off at 8000 as the pump automatically shuts off. This reduces the gas fumes into the air. Keep your tires properly inflated. Replace your air filter regularly. A clogged air filter can increase fuel consumption 10%. Simply following the maintenance recommendations in your owner's manual will show significant overall performance. We would be glad to help.

Ask a Lighting Specialist

Q: What's the most common mistake when it comes to kitchen lighting?

A: The most common mistake is trying to light the entire kitchen with one fixture mounted on the ceiling. It ends up being a "glare bomb," visually overpowering everything in the space including family and friends. The best type of lighting involves light layering where task, ambient, accent and decorative lighting are effectively blended together.

With family and friends gathering in the kitchen, why not take some time to re-assess your kitchen lighting needs. Come down to the Fort Erie Tim-Bre Mart for some helpful advice, and large selection of lighting fixtures. Let us make your holiday special.

Ask the Chiropractor

Q: Can Chiropractors help with surgery recovery for a knee replacement?

A: Chiropractors are trained in all aspects of rehabilitation, including post-surgical. It's important to work with a trained health care provider, whether it be a Chiropractor, Physiotherapist, or Kinesiologist, to ensure you are getting the proper rehab on your knee without causing any unnecessary strain on your new joint. Chiropractic care may include electrotherapy for pain and inflammation control, laser, soft tissue massage and mobilization of the knee joint. Strengthening the muscles around the knee is also very important, as small imbalances in muscle strength can lead to poor mechanics and premature wear and tear on your artificial joint. If you are anticipating a surgery in the near future, it may be wise to begin a strengthening program before surgery to ensure your leg strength is at its best before the surgery takes place.

Ask a Real Estate Expert

Q: What is the Real Estate Market?

A: The Real Estate Market is still good in this area, but we must remember 3 key issues that will sell your house.

1. LOCATION, your neighbourhood and the surrounding houses.
2. CONDITION if your house is in A+ condition and decluttered most people find that very appealing.
3. PRICE if you are willing to put your house on the Market at a competitive price, positive results will happen quicker.

All the above are very key factors of selling your property.

U2 tribute band Desire made up of Niagara boys

Tom Williams
West Niagara News

There won't be any butterflies for the members of Desire when they come out on stage Saturday Sept. 11 at Portstock or Sept. 18 at the Grape and Wine Festival. That's because the four members of the U2 tribute band practiced together for two years prior to their first stage appearance.

After all that rehearsal, they know how to play U2 music. And for Gord Sobota, Tim Shaughnessy, Dave Dellavalle and Justin Faragher, it's both a homecoming and the first time they've performed publicly as Desire in Grimsby.

"We grew up together in the same subdivision," said Sobota.

Gord went to Grimsby Secondary School, while the other three band members attended to Denis Morris High School in St. Catharines.

Desire is a four-piece band, formed in 2008, but the four men were no strangers to each other's musical abilities. They had played together in 1986 in a band called Ragged Eds.

"We were a Grimsby heavy-metal band in the high school days," said Sobota. "We were Desire, a U2 tribute band will be performing at Portstock and the Grape and Wine Festival next month.

brothers back then. We all picked different instruments."

It just happened that way, when they began taking lessons at the age of eight and nine years old. There was no thought that they would form a band. That came later.

"I just happened to pick the drums and Dave picked the guitar," he said. "Tim had a gift for singing."

"The chemistry was just there. You just know when you have a good band."

He said they decided to become a U2 tribute band in later years for two reasons, one being that they'd never covered U2 and the music was fresh for them. The second reason was one of business. U2 has a huge audience of all ages.

Sobota, Dellavalle and Faragher were together again. They needed a singer, and their former bandmate Shaughnessy didn't jump to mind because he was doing his own thing and they didn't think he'd be interested.

"We had a really tough time trying to get a singer," said Sobota.

"After five months, Tim stumbled on our website," he said. "We invited him out to a practice and told him to learn three or four (U2) songs."

"It was just like it was when we first formed the band when we were 15 - the same magic as 20 years ago," he said. "It was unbelievable."

Tim, of course, performs as US lead singer Bono onstage, while Sobota performs as Larry Mullen Jr., Dellavalle as "the Edge" and Faragher as Adam Clayton.

Desire's first concert was in Hamilton in 2008 at the Ukrainian Hall. It was a five-band showcase organized by Lou Furlanetto and marked the culmination of two years of practice including the band's long search to find the right singer.

Since then, Desire has performed in front of thousands of people in places such as Halifax, Moncton, Fredericton, St. John - as well as Hamilton Place closer to home.

"To do those kind of gigs - they're big gigs," said

Sobota. "We're kind of living our dream."

Sobota said their goals are simple: to perform together as long as they can, to keep their friendship intact, and to work hard and play at bigger and bigger venues.

"We see ourselves doing big, big festivals," he said.

Sobota gives Dellavalle a lot of credit for the work he did in learning to play as "the Edge".

"You need a lot of time to learn the sound that the Edge uses," he said. "Dave took two years to perfect his guitar."

It had been important to all the band members that they sound exactly like U2 when they step out on stage.

"Our motto is: 'You do it right or you don't do it at all'," he said.

And that's why they've impressed audiences ever since that first performance two years ago.

"We had people saying they couldn't believe it was our first show as a U2 band," he said.

They never get tired of playing U2 music.

"Their songs are so emotional and their songs have so much energy that ing them," Sabota said.

He said they also pick up on how the audience is reacting to the music.

"When I see that we have a sold-out venue and you see everyone listening for every lyric, it's like you have no idea you're controlling that," he said.

Some of the really emotional songs they enjoy, including "With or Without You" and "Bad" can bring goosebumps to their arms while they're playing.

"You can see people in the audience and they're in the moment with you," he said.

Dellavalle said the addition of Shaughnessy gave the band the chemistry and talent it needed to be a great tribute band.

"We had a lot of good singers come out," he said. "He (Shaughnessy) just got all the nuances and tones and undertones, just like Bono."

He said bringing the original band members back together made performing easy, as they all trusted each other completely.

Don't miss Desire, and the chance to see some great Niagara talent, September 11 and 18.

Some local surfers took to Pleasant Beach Saturday to remove trash and other discarded items from the sandy shores of Lake Erie.

Surfers show love for Pleasant Beach

Ward Barrett
Fort Erie News

Some Surfing enthusiasts spent Saturday at a local beach, but not just to catch some waves.

George Holmes, of the East Erie Surfers, is organizer of a cleanup at Pleasant Beach last weekend.

Holmes has been organizing various cleanups since age 10 and says, "we surf Pleasant Beach and Sherkston in the Fort Erie and Port Colborne area so we like to give back to the area we surf in."

Surfers have been flocking to Pleasant Beach for many years because of the size and volume of waves, which can be easily ridden on windy days. "Last time (at Pleasant Beach) we had 15 guys come out and we had 26 bags of garbage," Holmes says, "and 78 beer bottles, as well as metal pipes and whatever washes ashore."

This year, 12 bags of trash, a couch, and some plastic items were picked up from the beach, and Holmes says "we really try to pick up all of the plastics on the beach, because that's the most harm to the wildlife."

Holmes and 5 other local surfers were at Pleasant Beach starting at 8 a.m. to begin removing trash, with a barbecue for volunteers of the cleanup. Holmes and the East Erie Surfers will be organizing another event on Nov. 18, 2010, in memory of their friend and Great Lakes surfing pioneer Magilla Schaus, to benefit yet-to-be-named cancer charities.

Bricks & Bouquets

phone 905-871-3100, ext. 210 and leave a message

Brick to Thieves

To the thieves that took my beautiful four foot tall, curved Japanese lantern from my side garden on Lakeshore and Beatrice. This 200 pound, three piece lantern was wired for light and would have needed two or three men to lift and carry away. This was a Mother's Day present to me some 15 years ago. Please return it!

Brick to Mother-In-Law

To my mother-in-law for training your sons to treat women with disrespect. I can not understand, being a woman yourself, how you can allow such behaviour. Men and women are equal and should be treated as such. Women are not made to cook and clean and work, and take care of the children all by themselves. Your sons can sit around all evening and watch television, and go out and drink while I cook and clean. I don't think so. No wonder you don't like me.

Brick to Blind Date

A brick to the blind date that I had last weekend. You were the rudest person I think I have ever met. After telling me how perfect you are, you left and made me pay for the entire tab. I'm not old-fashioned, but I don't think I should have to offer to pay for half no problem, but I don't think I should have to cover the entire bill! Never again will I go on another blind date!

Bouquet to Volunteers

A bouquet to those who volunteer their time to help others. I have witnessed some amazing volunteers, who could be doing whatever they wanted with their spare time, but choose to help others. It's amazing and very appreciated. Do what you can. The help is always needed.

Ward Barrett Fort Erie News

The big ones were biting last weekend just in time for a new annual event named for one of Fort Erie's Best-Loved citizens. The first annual Andy Passero Memorial Bass Classic was last Saturday and it saw two large fields of anglers, both children and adults, reeling in prizes provided by local and national sponsors for the biggest bass. Organized by James Dunn with assistance by Pete Elphinstone and Julie Millejours of the Niagara Bassmasters, the annual Classic awarded the top anglers with a spot on the Andy Passero Memorial Bass Classic plaque, which will be on display at The Place Restaurant.

First place in the adult division saw Ernie Reinhart win his spot on the plaque and $300 with a bass weighing 4.59 pounds, while Allison Hughes reeled in 2nd place at 4.41 pounds and Bill Bondar in 3rd with 4.30 pounds.

First in the kids division was Dalton Tartaglia with a bass weighing 4.81 pounds, while the youngest competitor, Mack Herron, age 3, reeled in 2nd place with 4.43 pounds, and Ashton Doneff picked up 3rd with a 4.19 pound fish.

The event continued with door and raffle prizes for the remainder of the field, furnished by local businesses and other sponsors.

Cannons back on track

The Fort Erie Cannons got back on the winning track Wednesday night, after the Rose City Thorns ended the Cannons' 10 game winning streak last Friday night by beating the visiting St. Catharines Cobras 8-0 in a rain shortened affair, with the game being called in the bottom of the fifth with the Cannons batting. Robin Kellar led the way offensively going 3 for 3 and scored 3 runs, and was also the signal caller behind the plate as the Cannons pitchers Justin Hall and James MacKinnon held Cobra hitters to one hit. Hall went 3 innings allowing the only hit and MacKinnon went 2 hitless innings. The Cannons defence led by centrefielder Frank Biggins diving catch in the first inning which led to a double play and Kris Hodges play at shortstop helped hold the Cobras attack in check.

Three home runs in the fifth inning was the deciding factor as the Rose City Thorns halted the Fort Erie Cannons winning streak at 10 games. Fort Erie opened the scoring in the first on Hodges RBI fielders choice scoring Biggins who lead off the inning with a bunt baseball. The Thorns took the lead in the top of the second scoring 2 unearned runs. Fort Erie retook the lead at 3-2 in their half of the 2nd, the Cannons could have added more to their lead leaving the bases loaded. The Cannons only could muster 3 more base runners the rest of the way. Then in the fateful top of the fifth Thorns showed up as they are first in place in the Niagara District Senior Mens League hitting three home runs off the Cannons starting pitcher Mike Fowler. The Cannons only could muster 3 more base runners the rest of the way.

With the win the Cannons now sit third in place in the league at 14-7 and ended the regular season last night August 27 at home against the Thorold Fanoms. The Cannons are off to Orillia Labour Day weekend to compete in the Ontario Baseball Association C Division Finals. They will return to Oakes Park to host a Niagara District Senior Baseball League First Round Playoff Game the week of September 6.

Local kids get school supplies from Eagles

About 400 aboriginal youth will receive backpacks loaded with school supplies

Ward Barrett
Fort Erie Times

Some local kids got just what they need for school Thursday, with a charitable organization helping make their first day a great one.

About four hundred aboriginal youths will receive Backpacks loaded with school supplies courtesy of the RBC Royal Eagles, through the Fort Erie Native Friendship Centre.

RBC's Royal Eagles are an employee resource group funded by the Royal Bank of Canada to represent their aboriginal employees.

The Royal Eagles, through Jim Conway, have donated four hundred backpacks to local aboriginal youths annually for the last 3 years.

Valerie Moses, Aboriginal Head Start Clerical Worker with the Friendship Centre, says, "All of the backpacks are valued at around $25, when you multiply that by four hundred, it makes us feel blessed to get a contribution like that to our organization."

Most of the students getting backpacks have been part of the Centre's programming for a large part of their lives and Moses says, "Some of the students receiving backpacks are in university, so a whole range will be getting them."

"It's really amazing what they're doing for our organization," Moses says, "there's a lot of children whose families really benefit from this."

Churches serving a taste of community

A unique event in September will be bringing local residents into area churches to sample food, programs, and promote community togetherness in Fort Erie. A Taste of Community will involve 6 local churches serving meals in a day - long event to be held on Sat. Sept. 11, 2010.

Residents will enjoy food served at St. Paul's Anglican Church, First Baptist Church, Trinity Lutheran Church, Ridgeway Community Church, Riverside Church, and Saints Reformed Church.

Co-ordinator, Linda Pleschke says, "People can drive from church to church, and each church will have something to eat and drink, and they'll invite you in to look at the church and all the programs they have to offer the community."

Pleschke says the event will allow residents to find out about the many programs area churches offer to everyone and says, "you can drive by a church so often and not know what's going on inside the doors, this gives you an opportunity to see what the church is like...and to get to know the people that attend there."

"Everyone is welcome," Pleschke says, "we hope everyone will come out and enjoy themselves."

Adult tickets are $2, and $1 for children twelve and under for the event, which runs from 12 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Tickets can be purchased at Beatties Basics, 458 Garrison Rd., A Healthier You, 1237 Garrison Rd., and The Hope Church, 3711 Main St. W. in Stevensville. Tickets will be on sale until Sept. 3, 2010.

STRATTON, Colleen - peacefully surrounded by her family on Friday August 27, 2010. Carol Joyce "Colleen" Stratton (nee Walden), beloved wife of Walter (deceased) and loving mother to George (Pam), Michael (deceased), Bill (Paul), and Kathy; grandmother of Ginny and Michael Stratton, Ben and Bowen, great grandmother of Kaitlyn Bowen, beloved sister of Ted Walden and Frank Walden (deceased), and dear friend of Anne. Carol Joyce Walden was born in Fort Erie in December 1925 and grew up there on Jarvis Street. Her parents called her their "little Irish Colleen" and the name stuck. Colleen worked at Fleet Aircraft during WWII and after the war met and married her great love, Walter Stratton. Colleen and Walter raised 4 children in Crescent Park and then Rochester, New York. Avid boosters on the Niagara River, the Great Lakes, Georgian Bay, and in the Thousand Islands. In 1978 Colleen and Walter retired on their trailer "TUG 1" and spent 5 years boating between the Caribbean and Georgian Bay after which they returned to their roots to live again on the Niagara River. Family meant everything to Colleen. She was happiest with family nearby, boating, skiing, cooking, entertaining, and just being together. She had a special flair for gardening and decorating and her lovely home showed her creative side. Beautiful inside and out, Colleen was a special person, a "daddy lady" by all her caring ways and outgoing friendly personality. She was also well known on the Niagara Parkway for riding her red bike - even at 84 years old! Colleen will be truly missed by all. Special thanks to "Dr. Sam" and the wonderful staff at Greater Niagara Memorial Hospital. A celebration of her life will be conducted at St. Paul's Anglican Church in Fort Erie on Sunday, September 4th, 2010 at 11am.

WHITFIELD, James (Neil) - Formerly of Crystal Beach, passed away peacefully at his home in Rycoft, Alberta at the age of 75, on Sunday, August 22, 2010 after a brave battle with cancer. He was at home and surrounded by his family, as was his wish. He leaves behind his loving wife of 37 years Lynn (Johnston) of Fort Erie, and will be greatly missed by his children, Tim, Tom, Theresa, Joe and Jim, step sons Rick and Bill Watson. Many nieces and nephews, grand, and great grand children. He will be remembered as a man who loved his family, his friends, but most of all his life. A small private celebration of his life will be held in Alberta.

Life is but a stopping place,
A pause in what's to be,
A resting place along the road,
To sweet eternity.
We all have different journeys,
Different paths along the way,
But never meant to stay...
Our destination is a place,
Far greater than we know.
For some the journey's quicker,
For some the journey's slow.
And when the journey finally ends,
We'll claim a great reward,
But never an everlasting peace,
Together with the Lord.
